FATAL ACCIDENT—Mrs. Patty Elkins, Route Six, was fatally injured in a four-vehicle accident at 10:05 a. m. today, 2.5 miles east of Murray on Highway 94.

One Person Killed In Accident Today

Mrs. Patty H. Elkins, Route Six, was pronounced dead at the scene of a four-vehicle accident this morning shortly after ten a. m. on Highway 94 East.

Kentucky State Police said vehicles driven by James E. Shropshire, 707 Goodman; Jimmy D. Herndon, 1620 Kirkwood; Mrs. Elkins; and Ronnie Dale Nanney, Route One Hardin, were involved in the accident.

Police reports said the Shropshire vehicle, a tractor trailer; the Herndon vehicle, a South Central Bell telephone truck; and the Elkins passenger car were all going west on Highway 94. Police reported that the Nanney vehicle, a grain truck, was going east on 94, when snow blinded the driver, causing him to veer into the other lane.

State Police said the Nanney truck hit the Shropshire vehicle first, then struck the Herndon vehicle, and then struck the Elkins car nearly head-on.

The accident occurred 2.5 miles east of Murray on Highway 94. The fatality is the seventh in Calloway County this year.

Mrs. Elkins was the wife of Lestel Elkins. Other survivors had not been named at noon today. The Max Churchill Funeral Home will be in charge of arrangements.

$75,000 Suit Filed Against City By Riviera Courts Owner

A law suit against the City of Murray seeking $75,000 in damages has been filed in U. S. District Court in Paducah on behalf of Robert J. Keathley, owner of Riviera Courts mobile home park here.

The suit involves the ownership of water and sewer lines that were extended from the city's existing lines to Riviera Courts at the time the mobile home park was built.

Mike Tilley, an attorney with the firm of Charles A. Williams and Associates of Paducah, who is representing Keathley, told The Murray Ledger &

Times today that it is his contention that "what we have here is a taking of a citizen's property without due process of law."

Tilley said that the original owner and developer of the mobile home park had "agreed by written contract that (the water and sewer lines) would become the property of the Murray Water and Sewer System in return for certain obligations on the part of the city of Murray and its water and sewer system." Tilley said that the obligations on the part of the city were "in regard to rates."

"The city, by ordinance and otherwise, has broken its end of the bargain," Tilley added.

"At issue is an agreement signed by the original developer of the mobile home park, then Mayor Holmes Ellis and members of the water and sewer committee of the City Council at the time. The agreement was entered into in July of 1970.

At a later date, however, the agreement was declared invalid by the City Council. Murray City Attorney Wells Overbey said today that he said at the time and that he still feels the agreement was not valid since it was not ratified by the full City Council.

Overbey said that in the past when a developer has desired an extension of water and sewer lines, the developer and the city would enter into a "refund agreement."

The refund agreement stipulates that the developer pays for the extension of the lines, which then become the property of the Water and Sewer System and that in future years, if additional customers tap onto that line, the developer is given a refund of $150 for each such tap-on.

Apparently no refund agreement was entered into with the Riviera Courts developer other than the agreement the city claims is invalid.

The suit filed on behalf of Keathley says:

"...the city of Murray has by its actions taken said water and sewer lines and is applying same to public use without just compensation being previously made to the owner thereof, plaintiff herein."

The suit claims that the acts on the part of the city are in violation of the 14th Amendment of the United States Constitution and Sections 13 and 242 of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

MES Board Okays Plans For Transmission Lines

The Murray Electric System Board of Directors approved the drafting of plans and specifications for proposed transmission lines connecting three substations within the city.

The drafting of the plans will be handled by Allen and Hoshall, Inc., consulting engineers of Memphis. The construction cost of the proposal selected by the board was estimated at $136,000.

Electric system Supt. Bill Barker said that the loop linking the substations together would allow work to be done on the 69,000 volt transmission systems with the power cut off since electricity could be diverted from another substation.

Barker also reported that the system has completed new restrooms and lounge areas in the office building on Olive Street. The project was done at a cost of $12,000, Barker said.

The board also briefly discussed the city's plans for central billing for utility services but no action was taken. Chairman Bill Boyd said that "it was my understanding we were supposed to get communication from the mayor (concerning central billing)... we have received nothing to date."

Central Billing Expected To Get Council Approval

The Murray Common Council is expected tonight to authorize Mayor John E. Scott to sign a contract on behalf of the city that will institute central billing for at least three of the city's four utility services.

The contract with Peripheral Systems Research, Inc. (PSR) of Murray was discussed at length at a "pre-council" session held last night. A majority of the council indicated their approval of the contract following a few changes in wording in certain clauses.

Official action on the contract will be taken tonight at the council's regular meeting which will begin at 7:30 p. m. in the television studios at Murray State University. The meeting will be televised over cable channel 11.

At this time, according to reports given by various council members, the central billing will incorporate the bills of the Murray Water and Sewer System, the Murray Natural Gas System and the Murray Sanitation System into a single bill. The Murray Electric System (MES) has reportedly been invited to join in the central billing system but the electric plant board has taken no action on the matter.

MES board chairman Bill Boyd said at the regular meeting of the electric plant board Wednesday that "it was my understanding we were supposed to get a communication from the mayor (concerning central billing)... to my knowledge we have received nothing to date."

Mayor Scott told the council last night that the letter was written and mailed October 18 and that he did not know why the electric system had not received the letter inviting them to join in the central billing system.

Councilman C. C. Lowry, chairman of the central billing committee, recommended that the council approve the contract with PSR at tonight's meeting.

"This contract is much better than any we could get from Central Services," Dr. Lowry said.

Central Services, with offices in Tupelo, Miss., and Jackson, Tenn., presently handles the billings for the electric system and the water system. PSR is currently providing billing services for the Murray Natural Gas System.

Charles Walston of PSR said that if the contract is approved at tonight's meeting the system could possibly be implemented in time for the March 1, 1977 billing.

The council also discussed the budget for the coming year and all committees and department heads were urged to get their budget requests finalized as soon as possible so that the budget committee would have ample time to formulate the 1977 budget. The budget must be finalized and approved prior to the start of the year.

MSU Could Be Site

State Panel To Consider West Kentucky Vet School

Murray has been named as a possible site for a proposed $4 million veterinarian training clinic for Western Kentucky that will be considered by the Kentucky Council on Public Higher Education at its Jan. 12 meeting, according to Harry Snyder, council executive director.

Snyder said he will not make a recommendation for a site for the clinic, but said he "has heard talk" that it will be located in either Hopkinsville, Murray, or Bowling Green.

Murray State University is thought to have a good chance of getting the clinic because university officials expressed an interest in veterinary training more than two years ago. MSU was the first institution in the state to seek legislative support for a veterinary training facility.

Snyder said there are no funds earmarked for the vet clinic, but said capital construction priorities could be changed to construct the proposed facility. Gov. Carroll would have the authority to change priorities to include the clinic in the funding approved earlier this year by the legislature, according to Snyder.

Snyder said Wednesday that the clinic would operate in conjunction with veterinarian programs at Ohio State and Auburn universities.

Under the proposal, students would receive their first three years of training at the universities, then take their fourth year of work at the clinic, Snyder said.

He said the clinic would provide training in specialized, secondary veterinary science, adding that the facility would be the first of its kind in Kentucky.

Snyder said the subject was scheduled for consideration at a special meeting of the council here on Nov. 18, but that session was cancelled because "a staff report on the clinic wasn't complete."

Snyder said he would be prepared to make specific recommendations on the project at the January session.

Letter From Tappan To UAW Made Public

D. W. Dickson, General Manager of the Murray Operation of The Tappan Company, said today that a number of questions had been raised relative to the UAW International's letter to Tappan employees and the subsequent Murray Ledger & Times news article of November 3, 1976.

In an effort to clear up any misunderstandings, Dickson today made public a recent letter to Dallas Sells, Director of Region 3 of the UAW, relative to The Tappan Company's current position.

The letter is as follows:

"Dear Mr. Sells:

"We have reviewed the October 19, 1976 letter to Tappan employees, members of Local 1068, and the Murray Ledger & Times newspaper article dated November 3, 1976, in which the results of the balloting covered in your letter were announced. Some misunderstandings appear to have been generated by both your letter and the article. These have been reported to us and have made it necessary for us to clearly set forth The Tappan Company's position.

Home Gutted By Fire Today

The second story of a two story frame home owned by Lubie Blanton, 506 North First, was gutted by fire early today, according to the Murray City Fire Department.

Fire reports said the fire started around 12:30 a. m. today, and originated in a flue. The fire was extinguished with the booster.

Fourteen men and three trucks from the city fire department answered the call.

Snow Today

Snow accumulating one to three inches before tapering off to flurries tonight. Steady or falling temperatures and low tonight in the mid to upper 20s. Cloudy with chance of snow flurries Friday; high in the low to mid 30s.

AND SUDDENLY, THERE IT WAS—The first snowfall of the season hit Calloway County this morning and by late morning the moist snowflakes had left a white cap on many cars and homes. Very little accumulation was reported on streets but as a precautionary measure, the Calloway County School System dismissed classes at mid-day so that buses could run their routes with minimal hazard.

Carroll May Make Recommendation

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A recommendation may be made by Thursday on whether to include the issue of workmen's compensation in the upcoming special session of the General Assembly, according to Gov. Julian M. Carroll.

Speaking before the 80th annual convention of the Independent Insurance Agents of Kentucky, Carroll said Monday that a special commission studying workmen's compensation is expected to make a final recommendation to him on Thursday.

He said the issue probably will be on the special session's agenda.

More than 600 insurance agents from around the state are attending the convention, which ends today.

Recent Kentucky Supreme Court decisions and an increase in workmen's compensation rates have combined to raise the premiums by an average of 32.5 per cent this year. Some organizations have been lobbying to have workmen's compensation considered by the special session, expected to convene the last week of this month.

Carroll said the commission probably will have suggestions that will reduce premiums.

"My own staff has been making independent evaluations of some aspects and hope to have additions to the commission's recommendations that will reduce the premiums more," the governor commented.

No-fault automobile insurance also is a likely topic, Carroll said again, as he has previously.

He stressed that the state's economy can be bolstered without levying new taxes.

The governor said state government must operate its own business efficiently and encourage strength in the business community so it will produce more tax revenue.

"When bothered with inflation as we are now, government too often turns to new taxes, but that's really the easy way," Carroll said. "But I won't accept that. Most people are paying as much as they can now in taxes."

Special Events To Be Held By Murray Club

The Murray Woman's Club will have a massive work day to work on the care of the club house lawn in the spring with at least five members from each of the ten departments of the club to be represented for the work day.

This action was taken at the meeting of the Executive Board of the club held Monday, November 1, at 11:30 a. m. at the club house with Peggy Billington, president, presiding. Doris Cella, chairman of the Garden Department, presented the plan to the board, and each department will be responsible for getting their members for the work day to be announced.

The club voted to continue its membership in the Friends of the Library organization. Dean Poston, chairman of the finance committee, reported that about $1,132 was raised for the club in the picture financial project.

Irma LaFollette, chairman of the Advisory Board, said the meals now at the club house will be three dollars each as of November 1.

The Theta Department expressed its appreciation for the members helping with the Swine Flu vaccination clinic conducted by the Calloway County Health Department. Over sixty members of the club assisted the Health officials with the clinic during the three day period with Dortha Jones as coordinator of the volunteers.

Announcement was made of the Creative Arts Bazaar to be held at the Calloway County Public Library on November 13. The Delta Department will sell tickets on a piece of jewelry, made and donated by Clara Eagle, with the drawing to be on December 7. The Zeta Department reported that 350

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1976

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)
You can advance through association with those who stimulate your thinking and imagination — especially if aims and interests are mutual.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)
Avoid a tendency toward impulsiveness. In moments of stress, slow down — rather than take steps to a position from which it may be hard to extricate yourself.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
Generous Mercury influences now stimulate your ingenuity and imagination. Use both well and results will please. Reach for the unusual; study new trends.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Things should be fairly stable in both your business and personal life now. Incentive and ambition, teamed up, should help to bring ultimate objectives more clearly into focus.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Pleasing recognition for your work on a recent project now raises your self-esteem and gives you a warm glow of satisfaction.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
New and unusual ideas, thoughtfully carried out, could bring gains. A good period, too, for making long-range plans.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Some advances indicated, especially in the fields of art, designing. New suggestions may be made to you. Appraise carefully, noting all factors.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)
Tackle all situations without taking a dim view of problem areas. There are always solutions — many! The eager, watchful and hopeful eye sees them more quickly.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 24 to Dec. 23)
Stress your innate prudence and perceptiveness. Constructive interests favored. Avoid doubts and fears. You should have a bright and happy day.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 24 to Jan. 20)
Certain changes are in order, others are NOT. Don't go "against the grain" needlessly or penetrate too deeply into unknown seas before you have the know-how and the facts.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Curb an impulse to undertake enterprises you would not ordinarily consider. Stellar influences now suggest that you stick to routine, avoid chance-taking of any sort.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
Explore further means to solve problems that came up in the past, are still on the docket. Fulfill a cherished wish by working for it. Don't just daydream.

YOU BORN TODAY are a combination of ambition, straightforward action, persistence in working toward objectives and the talents needed to succeed — in almost any field of your choice. You are inventive and have an investigative mind; would make a brilliant scientist or detective. You should enjoy artistic pursuits, outdoor life, travel and social events, where your gregariousness and outgoing personality would make you the center of attraction. Whatever you do, you do wholeheartedly and intensely — which makes you a valuable ally or a dangerous enemy. In Remembrance Of The Eleventh Hour Of The Eleventh Day Of The Eleventh Month

By Henry McKenzie, member
American Legion Post No. 73,
Murray, Kentucky

O God our Father, before Whom nations rise and fall, we confess that we have strayed from Thy ways and forgotten Thee in the councils of the nations. Arouse in our people a willingness, as they sacrificed greatly for war, so also, to dare bravely, think wisely, decide resolutely and achieve triumphantly the international good will so needed in our world today.

O Thou eternal Source of peace, bless our country, that it may ever be a strong-hold of peace, and may it continue to be the advocate of peace in the councils of nations. May our leaders have the vision and courage to guide our nation into that cooperation between the nations which alone can make war impossible.

May we realize that to avenge our valiant dead, we should replace madness with sanity, force with reason and war with law. Help us to break down all race prejudice and help us to submit our ways to Thy will. Renew our faith in Thy power to establish justice in the place of injustice and good will in the place of bitterness and fear.

Lead us out of the feelings of confusion that exist in our country today and into the order and brotherhood of Thy Kingdom. Amen.

Cash Discounts On Credit Cards Noted

By Robert F. Stephens
Attorney General

Would you like to save up to five per cent of the purchase price of some item by simply paying cash instead of using your credit card?

Each time an item is bought with a credit card, the merchant pays a percentage to the card issuer. This percentage that the merchant pays ranges up to six per cent of the purchase price of each item. Since October of 1975, merchants have been allowed by the Federal Fair Credit Billing Act to offer cash discounts to induce consumers to pay by cash, check or similar means rather than use a credit card. These discounts can be up to five per cent of the price of any merchandise bought.

To offer cash discounts a merchant must follow three procedures. First, notices informing consumers of the cash discount must be posted at all entrances and cash registers. Second, the discounts must be available to all prospective buyers — credit card holders and non-holders. Third, any advertising which mentions an acceptance of bank credit cards must also state that cash discounts are given. Any restriction on the extent of cash discounts must be disclosed.

Consumers should note that merchants are not required to give these cash discounts. If you are in a store that honors credit cards, ask, each time you shop, about these discounts. Merchants will consider giving these discounts when consumers ask about them and when buying decisions are based on whether these discounts are given.

If you have a consumer complaint, write to the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky., 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation, call the Consumer Hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960.

The First Family To Get Locked Up In The City Dump

By M. C. Garrott

Johnny McDougal, his wife and children have the distinction of having become the first family to be locked up in the city's dump.

They didn't do anything to earn the honor, which carries no trophies or plaques. Nor, are they particularly proud of the achievement. It just happened to come their way.

A couple of weeks ago, Johnny, who is director of student financial aid at Murray State, was taking some richly deserved vacation time when he realized he had accumulated a considerable pile of trash to be thrown away — clippings from the yard, shrubs and trees as well as some other things they wanted to discard.

As customary, he planned to use his fishing boat in which to haul his trash away. This time it was fully loaded and packed tight by rain and time. "That boat is a real antique," he said with his characteristic laugh. "I don't know that I would get out on the water in it any more, but it makes a good trailer for hauling trash."

So, one afternoon while on vacation, he told his wife, Charlotte, that he thought he would take advantage of the opportunity to pull it to the dump and pitch the trash. It was one of those beautiful fall afternoons we have been having of late, although the wind was sharp and the temperature had just about given up trying to climb out of the 30s.

Charlotte thought the idea was a good one and went on to suggest that she and the children, Mitzi, 9, and John Mark, 4, also go along. It looked like a beautiful afternoon to get out in the countryside, and the youngsters were thrilled at the idea. Soon, they were on their way.

Arriving at the dump, or "landfill" as they sophisticatedly call them these days, out off 121 near Coldwater, Johnny noticed the sign at the gate warned that the place closed at 4 p.m. It was 3:15 p.m. when he drove in.

Plenty of time, he thought as he stopped for a minute to chat with Newman Grogan, who rides herd on the place, and was directed to a place where he could throw his trash out.

"I was wrapped up in a heavy coat and gloves," Johnny said, "and really didn't pay any attention to the time. Too, I was in there longer than I intended to be as it took me about an hour to get all the packed-down stuff out of the boat. We also were over a little ridge and out of sight of the office."

Once finished, they piled in the car and headed home only to find the office, which is an old mobile home, closed and locked. A big metal bar was across the gate and locked in place. Mr. Grogan, his day up at 4 p.m., had locked up and gone home, apparently thinking no one was still in the area.

These wasn't any way the McDougals could get around the gate, even in Johnny's 1952 Chevrolet. They were trapped in the dump. It was getting late, and the sun was going down shortly. The only phone around was locked up in the office.

"We had no choice but to walk out," Johnny laughed, "and all together, Charlotte and the kids weren't about to stay there while I went for help."

A half-mile down the road they came to the home of Clyde and Lucille Beaman, but, again, Lady Luck seemed to have turned away her head. No one was home. As they turned to leave, however, the Beamans drove in the yard. They were just getting home from stripping tobacco, and soon Charlotte and the little McDougals were gratefully warming themselves at the Beamans' stove while Johnny used the telephone.

Mr. Grogan, not yet home, could not be reached, so Charlotte's nephew, Darren Miles, was summoned. He came out and picked them up.

"As soon as I got home, I tried again and reached Mr. Grogan," Johnny said. "He was very apologetic after I told him my problem and kept saying, 'No! No! Surely I didn't do that!' He thought I had been long gone when he locked up. Soon afterwards, I picked him up and we went to the dump to get the car and boat. We even had some good laughs about it on the way."

That, according to Mr. Grogan, was the first time anything like that had ever happened.

"I'll bet it will be the last time as long as he is out there, too!" Johnny laughed. "I know one thing — I'm going early from now on!"

CPAs Suggest Ways To Gain From New Tax Law

The Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants has dipped into the 398 pages of federal tax revisions and come up with a number of suggestions for taking advantage of the revised law.

The CPAs, like other professional tax practitioners, expect to spend hundreds of hours between now and January 1, the start of the next tax season, acquainting themselves with the myriad changes Congress adopted, but report that a preliminary examination of the bill points to actions taxpayers should either take now or delay until the start of 1977.

Actions to be taken now include: — If you have a vacation home that you rent out part of the time limit your personal use of the house to two weeks or ten per cent of the days it will have been rented for the year, whichever is greater. If you have already gone beyond the limit for 1976, your deductions, other than interest and taxes, are limited to the amount of rental income received.

— If you and your spouse both work full time but haven't been eligible for the child-care deduction because the person who looks after your children is a relative, look again at your situation; the rules have been changed. Payments to a relative now do qualify, if the relative is not a dependent and the pay is subject to Social Security tax. (A secondary advantage is that this can be a good way of qualifying an otherwise non-eligible person for ultimate Social Security benefits.) The child-care credit can be taken by persons in any income bracket; it no longer is phased out as income exceeds a set limit. The changes are retroactive to last January 1.

— If as a small businessman you have been pressing to concentrate income in 1976 to avoid the higher corporate tax rate scheduled for next year, ease up. The 1976 rates and the surtax exemption for small corporations will be good through 1977.

— If you are hurrying to buy a car (or other equipment) to be used in business so as to get the purchase completed this year, before the investment credit reverts back to 7 per cent, relax. The 10 per cent credit will be extended through 1980.

— If you have been planning to forego business conventions abroad next year because of talk that attending would no longer bring deductions, you will be able to revert to your previous practice. The deductions will be retained, providing you attend no more than two foreign conventions a year, travel tourist class, and deduct no more than the per diem allowance U.S. Government employees receive when sent to the same areas.

— If you have invested in tax shelter ventures, or are in a bracket that exposes you to a minimum tax, see your financial counselor promptly; all sorts of important changes will affect you. Actions that the CPAs advise putting off until January include:

— If you or your spouse is past 65 and you have plans for selling a home that has appreciated in value over the years, without reinvesting, wait. The portion of your sales price free of capital gain tax will rise next year from $20,000 to $35,000.

— If you are about to move for business reasons, you may want to wait if you can. The limit on certain deductible moving expenses — for househunting, selling and temporary living — now is $2,500 and next year it will be $3,000. Also, the minimum required distance will change from 50 miles to 35.

As a result of the tax revisions the Kentucky Society of CPAs and the American Institute of CPAs are gearing up for greatly expanded enrollments in the Continuing Professional Education tax courses they conduct for their members.

Four Keys to A Healthy Heart

Exercise to Help Your Heart

NINTH IN A SERIES

By Alton Blakeslee
and Jeremiah Stamler, M.D.

One of the most famous American heart specialists, Dr. Paul Dudley White, believed that "hard work never hurt a healthy heart," and that regular exercise was a heart tonic. Spry, active, wiry, Dr. White was a bicyclist and hiker, and lived to age 87.

Many heart specialists share his view that exercise and fitness are beneficial for the heart. The case is difficult to prove since there are so many variables in people's lives. But certainly the joke, "The only exercise I get is being a pallbearer for friends who exercise," is far off the mark. The concept that activity or exercise is a killer applies only in cases where the human heart already has been severely damaged, or when a person over-tries activity more strenuous than accustomed to. A very small percentage of fatal heart attacks occur during physical activity. Half occur during sleep.

The American Heart Association, looking at the evidence, says "it is at least prudent to exercise," and cites reasons to believe that the real value is from exercises that are rhythmic, repetitive and involving motion, particularly of the legs. So-called isometric exercises and weight lifting do not do this, though they can develop particular muscles.

British studies show men engaging frequently in vigorous activity had a lower incidence of coronary heart disease than men who did not. By vigorous is meant swimming, keep-fit exercises, jogging, running, brisk walking, cycling, tennis, climbing many stairs, and really heavy work in garden or home.

The vigorous exercise should be engaged in at least three times a week, not just sporadically, and certainly not all at once. Sudden for someone who has been sedentary for many years, or who has high risk factors such as smoking and elevated blood grams, spectator sports, are all sabotaging young hearts.

RECOVERY

The unexpected blow of a heart attack is a fearful thing. Will another come along? Will there be limitations on my life now? My job? My hobbies, sports? My sex life?

Hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions, of men and women have returned to quite normal lives after a first heart attack. More than 60 per cent of people survive their initial attack, and about 80 per cent return to normal jobs and normal living, usually with some changes in life habits. Some find the new styles appealing, as in losing weight or quitting smoking.

Most doctors advise patients to pay more attention to risk factors.

Recovery takes varying periods of time, and medical aid of various kinds, depending upon individual circumstances.

Doctors and patients should talk frankly with one another, with patients expecting answers to their concerns and wondering.

Patients shouldn't keep doctors guessing about what may really be on their minds, such as return to work, what physical activity can be allowed, peculiar symptoms they may feel. One large question is, when can sexual relations be safely resumed? It is rare, incidentally, for men to die during sexual activity. Exercise can help condition men and women physically to resume customary sexual activity. Sex by no means ruled out after a heart attack.

Surgery sometimes offers a passport back to normal living for people with severe angina despite medical treatment. And the human heart is pretty sturdy after all. One office is frequently called the toughest job in the world — that of the president of the United States. Two men, Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Lyndon Johnson, performed it well after having suffered heart attacks.

pressure under control, and diabetes also. With physical fitness, your heart rate is likely to become slower. You are likely to sleep better. Exercise may slow down changes that occur with aging — stiffness, arthritis, and loss of muscle tone.

Becoming physically active does not mean you will become hungrier, therefore eat more, and gain weight. Many people find they tend to eat less once they become physically fit again.

Once a heart attack has occurred, most heart specialists advise carefully regulated and individually "prescribed" exercises or activities, if the heart's health permits, in hopes of preventing another attack. The emphasis is put upon long-term improvement of fitness through regular and frequent exercise.

We should also look to our children, many of whom are growing up without encouragement to exercise and keep bodies fit.

Let's Stay Well

Sauna Bathing Is Stressful Activity

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Opinions differ among authorities as to the health benefits of sauna baths.

The Committee on Exercise and Physical Fitness of the American Medical Association takes this position: "Sauna baths make no special contribution to physical fitness and present a possible hazard due to burns."

In Scandinavian countries, sauna baths are traditional and popular, particularly in Finland. In that country, men and women often bathe together. The temperature is kept high, and the humidity is frequently boosted by dashing water on heated stones. Sauna bathing may be suddenly followed by plunges in icy water or snow.

According to a quote in Today's Health, formerly published by the American Medical Association, Kaare Rodahl, M.D., of Norway, feels "Although it may be difficult to demonstrate any objective beneficial effect on health and physical performance capacity, the sauna is generally considered to contribute to a feeling of physical and psychological well-being."

While sauna baths cannot be regarded as an American fad, they have gradually grown in popularity. They are used by some professional football teams, by so-called health clubs, and in a few homes.

Sauna baths are taken naked for a brief time (usually not more than 15 minutes) in a specially designed room or cabinet in which the temperature may range from 150 degrees F to 175 degrees F. They should be regarded as a stressful activity. Here are a few precautions in their use:

— Have a medical examination before starting to take such baths.

— Older people and others with known heart or circulatory problems should be particularly careful.

— Attendants should be available to watch out for bathers.

— Avoid burns from metal objects. Fixtures should be of wood. Place a towel between skin and the stool. Do not wear jewelry during a sauna bath.

— Don't go to a sauna on a full stomach or when drinking alcohol.

— Take a brief rest after a sauna bath until temperature and pulse come down toward normal.

Sauna bathing should be pleasant and not used to test your tolerance of punishment. Don't expect such bathing to cure diseases and solve all of your problems.

Q Mr. A.A. writes that his sister had a blue baby whose congenital heart trouble was corrected by surgery. He is wondering whether his sister may have additional blue babies with later pregnancies.

A Blue babies result from a development error in the heart so that some of the "blue" venous blood mixes with the red arterial blood. Such defects are not hereditary in the sense that they are passed along from one generation to the next by abnormal genes. The chances of your sister having another blue baby are rare and no greater than any woman's.

Q Mrs. C.F. declares that she is fed up about reading repeatedly of the need for sexual activity as an essential part of a healthy life. She inquires if a person cannot be normal, happy and healthy without sex.

A You are accurate in your observation that sex and its value and essentially have been overworked in the press, novels, movies and TV, and even in education. Many people of both sexes live long, useful, happy and vigorous lives without any sexual activity. Often their sexual drives are sublimated in dedication to their work or professions.

Eleven Scotia Victims Were Ready To Return To The Surface

BILL HENDRICK
Associated Press Writer
OVEN FORK, Ky. (AP) — Eleven men who died in a Scotia Coal Co. mine last spring apparently were ready to return to the surface when the fatal explosion occurred, according to a federal mining engineer.

Ray Ross, a federal Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration engineer, said Wednesday rescue teams have sighted the bodies of eight of the victims in the mine and that one was found in a locomotive, used to carry men to and from the pits.

Another body was found near the locomotive, Ross said, indicating the men — eight Scotia employees and three federal inspectors — apparently had completed their work in the mine.

The bodies of the 11 have been entombed since last March 11, two days after an explosion in the same "two-southeast" section killed 15 men.

The 11 victims of the second blast were part of a 13-man team that went into the shaft to make repairs so that a federal team of investigators could enter later to probe the cause of the initial explosion.

After the second blast, the mine was sealed, then reopened in mid July, when the operation to recover the 11 bodies began. Officials told families of the victims this week the remains would be brought out of the mine next week and that they should go ahead and make preliminary funeral plans.

"They had gathered at the area for the purpose of coming to the outside when the blast occurred," Ross said. "The rescue team, they did not want to look closely, they wanted to get out of there. They were in there just a very few minutes, just long enough to take a look at the battery locomotives."

The rescue team members examined two locomotives in the area to make sure they are incapable of emitting sparks when the bodies are brought out next week, Ross said.

The area in which the bodies are located will be sealed off and oxygen pumped in so that it will be safe for morticians, rescue team members and the Leitch County coroner to enter next week to bring out the bodies.

The atmosphere where the bodies are located contains 48 per cent methane gas, which is too rich to explode, according to Kentucky Mining Commissioner H. N. Kirkpatrick. Both explosions were caused by methane gas, and a battery on a locomotive in an area near the fatal "two-southeast" section is generally believed to have emitted sparks that triggered both explosions.

That locomotive, however, is farther down the mine shaft and will be sealed off from the section where the bodies are located before the remains of the victims are examined, then brought to the surface.

Ross said the recovery could occur as early as the middle of next week.

Although the rescue team bypassed the bodies quickly without examining them, Ross said, they were able to determine that "all 11 were killed instantly."

Open Date Much Needed Rest For Murray State

By JOE TOMERWIN
Murray State's Racers will have a badly needed rest this weekend after its 23-13 victory over Austin Peay last Saturday.

The open date couldn't come at a better time for the Racers, who have been badly battered in their last three games. Two key players, defensive tackle Bruce Martin and running back Tony Franklin, were injured in the Austin Peay game and will miss the game with Western Kentucky, Nov. 20. Martin, who has been outstanding in recent games and who was defensive player of the week in the Ohio Valley Conference two weeks ago, injured a knee. Franklin, a freshman and the leading Murray rusher, broke an arm.

But the other Racer injured, including all-conference defensive back Eddie McFarland, should be healed and ready for Western. McFarland has missed the last two Murray games.

Murray had its best offensive performance of the year in beating Austin Peay. The Racers had 248 yards total offense, 110 passing and 138 rushing. Quarterback Mike Dickens, getting good support from the Murray offensive line, had a superb game. He completed 9 of 18 passes, one of which was a 9-yarder to David Thomas for the third Racer touchdown. He also rushed for 58 yards in 13 carries.

The Racers scored 20 of their points in the second quarter on drives of 46, 15, and 62 yards. Reserve running back Don Portell replaced Franklin after he was hurt and rushed for 49 yards and 1 touchdown in 19 carries. He had a 47-yard touchdown run called back because of a penalty.

Thomas, who made a diving catch of Dickens' touchdown throw, also caught three other passes and had 58 yards on his receptions. Kicker Hank LaGorce got his ninth field goal of the season, a 29-yarder, and hit two of three extra point attempts. He's the leading Racer scorer with 33 points.

The Racer defense held Austin Peay to only 87 yards rushing and continued its alert play which has led to Murray's recovery of 24 fumbles in the last 4 games. The Racers recovered 5 in each the Austin Peay, Eastern Kentucky, and East Tennessee games and nine in the Middle Tennessee game. They have a conference-record, 37 recoveries for the season. They have also intercepted 19 passes. Defensive back Bruce Walker and linebacker Bobby Craig were the defensive stars at Austin Peay. Walker intercepted a pass, recovered a fumble, caused a fumble, deflected a pass, and had six tackles. Craig had eight tackles and caused a fumble. Other leading tacklers were Chuck Marquess with 6 and 2 assists; Sam Franklin with 5 and 2; Kevin Whitfield with 5 and 1, and Darrell Ramsey and Al Martin with 5. Ramsey also had an interception, a fumble recovery, and a sack of the Austin Peay quarterback.

Wes Furgerson, who has set a Murray record and is nearing the OVC record for the most punts in a season, punted 8 times for an average 41.6. He has 81 punts for the year. The old Murray record was 67 and the OVC record is 81. Furgerson has averaged 40.8 yards a punt.

Western defeated Middle Tennessee last week and is 4-3-1 overall and 3-3-1 in the OVC going into a game with Akron Saturday. The Murray-Western game will be in Murray's Roy Stewart Stadium at 1:30 p.m.

Pitcher Of Year

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mark Littell, 23, one of the American League's top relievers, has been selected as the Kansas City Royals' pitcher-of-the-year.

The selection was announced Wednesday by the Kansas City chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America. He is the first relief pitcher accorded the honor.

Littell had a team-high 60 appearances, with all except one in a relief role. His 2.06 earned run average was the best among league hurlers with at least 75 innings of work.

TENNIS

HONG KONG — Unseeded Americans Hank Pfister and Mike Machette upset fourth-seeded Corrado Barazzutti of Italy and Brian Fairlie of New Zealand, respectively, in the third round of the $75,000 Hong Kong International Classic.

STOCKHOLM — Second-seeded Bjorn Borg of Sweden struggled to a three-set victory over countryman Jan Norback 6-2, 2-6, 6-3 in the second round of the $150,000 Stockholm Open.

Walt Garrison, Other Cowboys In Town For Collegiate Rodeo

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

"I grew up with dreams of being a cowboy."
—Waylon Jennings

What kid in the world never grew up with dreams of being a cowboy? Some of us who are "old" kids still might admit we'd like to be a cowboy.

There's something about that rough and rugged life style of a cowboy. Perhaps it's the independence they seem to have; the freedom from a crazy world around them.

Everyone can't be cowboys so for the many people who can't, the cowboys will be coming to us. This weekend at the MSU Exposition Center, a three-day rodeo will be held and will feature some of the top professional cowboys and some of the top college rodeo teams in the nation.

On hand to promote the event is Walt Garrison, former star running back of none other than the Cowboys, Dallas that is.

Action will begin in the rodeo at 7:30 p.m. Friday with the following events to be held: bareback bronc riding, calf-roping, barrel racing, saddle-bronc riding, team-roping, steer wrestling, goat-tying, bull-riding and break-away roping.

Among the teams on hand are UTM, Murray, Missouri-Rolla, Southwest Missouri, Arkansas State at Beebe, Arkansas State-Jonesboro, Mississippi State, Louisiana Tech, Southeast Louisiana, Auburn and Arkansas Tech. There will also be a special wild-cow milking contest for the college fraternities.

Saturday's action will also begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be a continuation of Friday's events.

On Sunday, the final round of action will start at 2 p.m. and should conclude around 5 p.m.

Individual winners in the events will be determined Sunday but it will be sometime next week before it is known what team won the rodeo, simply because of the complicated scoring system.

The goal of the rodeo team at Murray State is simple; to try and send as many people as possible to the national championships next spring in Bosman, Montana.

For winning an event in Regional competition, a rider will receive $500 for his school. The money comes from the Copenhagen-Skoal Division of the American Tobacco Company.

In all, the American Tobacco Company has made $100,000 available in scholarships to the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association.

Alf Caldwell, a former star defensive player with Murray State, is one of the promoters of the MSU rodeo team.

Caldwell, known in his football playing days as the "Paris Flash," said a team could possibly win up to $7,000 if they went all the way to the national finals.

With the use of the new exposition center, Murray's rodeo team has the finest facility in the Ozark Region

(there are 10 Regions in collegiate rodeo).

The main problem is finding practice stock, however; ranchers sometimes leave their stock with the rodeo team members for the winter and the team members care for the stock and thus are able to use them for practice.

Murray is the first school

Recall Player

DENVER (AP) — The Cleveland Barons of the National Hockey League have recalled defenseman Glenn Patrick from their Salt Lake City farm club.

Patrick bolsters the Barons' defense, depleted by injuries to Jim Neilson and Bjorn Johansson.

Patrick, 26, is the son of Lynn Patrick, senior vice president of the NHL's St. Louis Blues. The younger Patrick had seven assists and 44 minutes in penalties in 13 games at Salt Lake City this year.

On Block Again

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Center Dave Robisch of the Indiana Pacers of the National Basketball Association is a well-traveled mah, having played with five teams in the now-defunct American Basketball Association.

"Robo is glad to finally have a secure home in Indianapolis," the current Pacers information book says.

On Wednesday, the Pacers said Robisch didn't go on the current road trip and they were trying to trade him.

west of New York City that has college rodeo.

"Believe it or not, there are a lot of cowboys in New York City. And if we can get some of that scholarship money, then we will be able to offer rodeo scholarships in the future," Caldwell said.

Already, the MSU rodeo team is regarded as one of the best in the Ozark Region, which is the only collegiate rodeo Region east of the Mississippi.

"I really feel rodeo people are athletes," said Garrison.

"There's no reason they shouldn't have scholarships. It really helps the tobacco company's image to give the scholarships too so it's doing both groups good."

Garrison said he expects within the next four or five years, the amount for scholarships will be increased to a quarter of a million dollars.

"If snuff keeps on selling like it is, the future for the rodeo scholarships looks bright. Since there are no longer cigarette ads on television and because of the cancer scare connected with smoking, a lot of people are now going to smokeless tobacco," Garrison said.

Garrison has been involved in rodeo for most of his life and even when he was playing with Dallas, he would participate in as many as 30 rodeos during the off-season.

Garrison, along with professional cowboy Rusty Davis, will be on hand for the entire three-day event which is expected to draw capacity crowds all weekend.

Taste Science Succeeds.

'Enriched Flavor' breakthrough brings unprecedented taste to low tar smoking.

By "cracking" cigarette smoke down into separate ingredients, researchers at Philip Morris discovered very special "key" flavor units that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor'.

The cigarette packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco is MERIT. At 9 mg., one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

Yet, MERIT actually packs the taste of cigarettes having more tar.

WKU Dormitory Cleared By Fire

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — The 26-story Pearce Ford tower on the Western Kentucky University campus was evacuated Tuesday because of a trash chute fire. Firemen said the sprinkler system in the chute failed to activate and if the amount of trash had been larger, the fire could have climbed to the top floor.

The dormitory, which houses about 800 male students, was evacuated.

First Grade School Teacher Shot While Students Watch In Horror

DETROIT (AP) — Seven-year-old Laura Denomie and 35 other children had just started their English lesson in Betty McCaster's first-grade class. A man entered, exchanged a few words with the teacher, then shot the teacher.

"Miss McCaster was screaming," Laura recalled later. "(She) reached her hand out and tried to push the gun away but bullets hit her and she fell back against the table."

Miss McCaster, 46, was fatally shot in the head Wednesday in her classroom at Burt Elementary School on Detroit's northwest side.

"We were screaming, and we all ran out of the room," Laura told police. "He shot her three or four times from this far away," she said, indicating a distance of about five feet.

Hours later, police arrested Miss McCaster's estranged husband, Al J. Lewis, 46, on open charges.

Most classes were canceled for the rest of the day at the school, where Miss McCaster had transferred only three weeks ago because, police said, she was afraid of Lewis.

Her sobbing pupils fled the scene and clustered in a first-floor classroom. Their parents waited anxiously in the corridor while police tried to piece together the youngsters' confused stories of what happened.

Police and school officials said a man had come to the school, inquired where Miss McCaster's classroom was, and entered it just as she began an English lesson.

Pupils said the two exchanged a few words before the man pulled a gun. When Miss McCaster told one child to go to the principal's office for help, the children said, the gunman became infuriated.

The Detroit Free Press reported in today's editions that Lewis had for the past two months been trying to get public school officials to fire his ex-wife. Lewis called the newspaper several times, claiming he could prove Miss McCaster had stolen school equipment.

The newspaper said Lewis called a reporter Monday and said he had signed himself into Doctors Hospital and expected to be there three weeks. A hospital spokesman refused to say what kind of treatment Lewis had. He signed himself out Tuesday night.

School principal Wilbur Klein said Miss McCaster's husband, whom he knew slightly, had come to the school a few days ago and demanding to see his wife. The principal said he told Miss McCaster, but she refused to see Lewis.

Adopted Kids Have Right to Know

DEAR ABBY: Would you like to hear some feelings straight from the heart of an adopted child?

I am a 15-year-old girl who was "chosen" at the age of four days. I am so happy with my adoptive parents that I would never dream of searching for my biological parents. Besides, I know it would crush my parents' hearts, and I would never do such a thing.

My "real" parents are the ones who raised me, changed my diapers, nursed me through my illnesses, fed me and put the clothes on my back. But more important than anything material, they taught me right from wrong and gave me love.

To search for my biological parents would be a very poor way of saying "thank you" for all my adoptive parents have done for me.

I think every adopted child should appreciate how lucky they are to have been raised in a nice home instead of in an orphanage.

CHOSEN CHILD IN PA.

DEAR CHOSEN: Chosen children have every right to seek the identity of their biological parents. Whether the reason for their inquiry is good or bad is not for others to say. I vote, too, for the right of biological parents to remain anonymous if they wish. However, a medical history of both biological parents should be made available to the adoptive parents whenever possible.

DEAR ABBY: I'll get right to the point. How does a nice girl meet a nice fellow?

GETTING NOWHERE

DEAR GETTING: She gets out of the house and goes where nice people are. To church, to adult education classes or to the headquarters of a political party where she volunteers her services.

She joins a little theater workshop, if that's her thing, she bowls, plays tennis, golf or meditates. She investigates volunteer services in her community to aid shut-ins, handicapped or the elderly.

She does NOT stay home waiting for some "nice fellow" to ring her doorbell, because if he does, he's sure to be selling something.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TRYING AGAIN IN GREEN WICH": No one said it better than Malcolm S. Forbes: "One thing that previous practice doesn't always make perfect: marriage."
